STABILITY OF GOVERNMENT NEEDED, DECLARE SPEAKERS

Republican Meeting Monday Evening is Great Gathering

TEMPLE PAID COMPLIMENTS

District Nominee for Congress Recognized as Able Man—"Let's Stay Together," Suggests Mr. Temple Wins Round Applause.

That greater stability of government is needed in preparing for the burdens which will fall naturally upon the United States at the close of the present European war, and that this stability is not to be brought about by any "nervous spasms," but by constructive action along safe and sane lines, was the argument presented at one of the best Republican meetings in recent years here Monday evening. The meeting was held at the Majestic theatre with the best speaking talent that could possibly be gotten together, consisting of Congressman George Edmund Foss, of Illinois; Congressman Albert Johnson of Tacoma, Wash.; Congressman-at-large Thomas L. Crago of Waynesburg and former Congressman Henry W. Temple. They spoke in the order named.

Monday morning the executive committee of the county met at Washington and went over plans for bringing out a large Republican vote at the polls next Tuesday. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Washington Town Hall the speakers who later came to Charleroi to participate in the local rally made addresses at a well attended meeting.

Preceding the Charleroi meeting a sort of informal rally was held at the Wilbur hotel. All the county candidates were on hand, meeting and greeting friends. Before the meeting began the Charleroi Concert band played several selections.

The theatre was well-filled for the meeting. Many were here from other towns, including a number from Washington headed by the Republican county chairman, Joseph T. Hemphill. In the audience were found many Democrats, who are friends of Dr. Temple, as well as a big number of former Washington party voters. With few preliminaries the speaking was started. R. H. Rush, executive committeeman from Charleroi presided.

Congressman Foss Speaks

Congressman Foss was the first speaker introduced. He opened his remarks by stating that he believed in two large political parties, with each critically watching the actions of the other. He said the country was looking to the results in the twenty-fourth district and went on to tell why. He pronounced Dr. Temple, the Republican congressional nominee a man of great ability, stating that while he had served but one term in congress, he nevertheless had stamped himself among the leaders. "The best way to secure a good representative is to secure good raw material," said Mr. Foss, "and then keep your man where he will make good."

Mr. Foss went quite deeply into problems which the nation is facing. The failures of the Democratic party in arranging their tariff bill and the effect of the tariff bill were discussed. He said that not only had the Democrats disastrously failed in matters of protection, but they had also failed to raise the necessary revenue to support the country. He spoke of the road of better defenses and his words were those of an expert, for Mr. Foss during a ten years' period was chairman of the congressional committee on naval affairs. He maintained that the Republican party was not only for reasonable protection to industries, but also for a stronger army and navy. He concluded: "The Republican National committee is looking for you to send Dr. Temple back to congress with a big majority."

Congressman Johnson For Temple.

Congressman Johnson had but a brief five minutes to speak having with Congressman Foss to hasten for his train to Pittsburgh. He stated his pleasure at being able to offer his services to help get a Republican congressman elected from this district. He said that the west needed eastern help, and the way in which the west, now suffering from too much experimental legislation, can be helped, is through the election of Republican congressmen in the east.

Col. Crago On Economic Side

Col. Thomas S. Crago discussed economic problems and with brilliant oratorical effects described the Democratic failures, which during its tenure passed the biggest appropriation bill known to history as well as other bills having a detrimental effect.

Congressman Crago said the reason we want protective tariff laws is that we can have good living conditions and good working conditions. He found no sympathy with the attempt of the Democratic party to cover up their failures by passing "anti-dumping" laws prohibiting Europe from freely shipping their produce here. In closing Congressman Crago spoke words of praise for Dr. Temple, pronouncing him a most able man.

Temple Roundly Applauded

When former Congressman Temple was introduced as "our nominee for congress" by Chairman Rush, he was roundly applauded. At once he entered into the heart of his discourse. He first said a few words explaining how he happened to now be a Republican nominee when he had previously served a term in congress as a member of the Progressive wing. He said it was "like coming back home."

"Now we're getting together I hope we'll stay together," said Dr. Temple. "I want to see a solid Republican vote for the county as well as for the district ticket."

Proving his knowledge of international law and history Dr. Temple branched into a brief discussion of war problems in order to prove a point. He discovered in the present war a parallel of the wars in the time of Napoleon. After this European strife the United States found it necessary in 1816 to enact a protective tariff law to keep it from being made a cheap marketing place by Europe. Conditions, Dr. Temple predicted, would be similar upon the end of the present war in Europe and he asked pointedly: "What will happen to us if at the close of this conflict, we are not in the hands of a protective tariff?"

Dr. Temple discussed the need of

FLOATS TO BE IN PARADE

Unique Decorative Effects Expected, Same as Last Year—Masks To Make Merry—Cash Prizes For Best to be Given.

Two big events come next week, the Hallowe'en celebration and election day. Hallowe'en will be celebrated fittingly in Charleroi and other points on Monday and election day will be the day after. Committees here are working to make both days worth while.

Generally it is expected the Hallowe'en celebration here this year will be similar to that of last when a particularly pleasing observance was featured. A parade will be the biggest feature. Prizes will be awarded.

Last year the idea of having floats in the parade was adopted, with the result that some ingenious ideas in decorative effects were adopted. This year the float idea will be again featured, and efforts made to have a large number in line. Cash prizes for the best will be given. Announcement of the judges will be made later.

Also in the line of parade will appear the usual assortment of masks. If anything greater ingenuity is shown in methods of tagging up than in arranging floats

Interest is being stimulated in this part of the Monday parade to make it a big event. Plenty of music will be provided, and to the best attired persons cash prizes will be given.

ENGINEER BROWN GETS DEPUTYSHIP IN OHIO

Charleroi Borough Official to Ask Council Tonight For Leave From Service Here That He May Take New Position November 1.

Borough Engineer Harvey F. Brown will ask council to elect his successor at their meeting this evening. Mr. Brown has accepted a position with the county highway superintendent of Williams county, Ohio, and will begin his work Nov. 1. His official title will be Deputy Highway superintendent and he will have as a part of his duties the surveys for and preparation of plans for extensive highway improvements for next year.

Mr. Brown's reason for asking council to reconsider his resignation for an earlier date than first set—Nov. 15—is that he feels that having a chance to better his present position, council has been sufficiently warned and should have no trouble selecting a successor.

A WORD OF WARNING

Republican leaders in every state in the union are calling upon the Republican voters everywhere to rally to their party standard at the coming general election. Failure of the Republicans to give a large majority to all their candidates, it is argued by the Republican leaders, would be a setback to the Republican party throughout the country and would unnecessarily cripple and hinder the party on the verge of a national contest.

In regard to the coming election one senator has issued a statement in which he says:

"Let no one make any mistake about the significance of the pending election in the present campaign in Pennsylvania. We are on the eve of a Presidential election. Before the outbreak of the war in Europe we were drifting into a period of industrial depression similar to that which prevailed before the Presidential election in 1896. The war in Europe has, to a great extent, temporarily relieved this condition. The war must close sooner or later, and then the menace to our prosperity will arise in a more formidable way than ever."

"If Pennsylvania should fail to give a large majority for the Republican candidates at the approaching election, it would be a setback to Republicanism throughout the country, and most unfortunate for the prospects of Republican success in the Presidential election next year. A divided Republican party in Pennsylvania, recognized as the greatest industrial centre and citadel of Republicanism in the country, would

MOVIE ACTOR AND HIS HORSE DIVE 83 FEET

Perils of Motion Picture Game Show
When Man on Animal Splashes Into Water Along Hudson—Horse Unhurt, Man Has Broken Leg.

For a moving picture production of "Carmen" with an ending revised to satisfy requirements for the spectacular, Arthur Jarvis, of Bath Beach Brooklyn, a few days ago jumped on horse-back off an eighty-three foot cliff at Ausable chasm in the Adirondacks into fifteen feet of water.

The leap became known only, when he was brought into New York on a morning train and taken to the Flower Hospital with a broken leg.

The horse, an old circus animal, known as Toreador, which has been used for feature pictures for some time, was also brought down unhurt.

According to the change, the picture will present Don Jose, following the death of Carmen, riding off into the mountains on horseback and committing suicide by leaping over a cliff.

Jarvis, who has done some other moving-picture "stunts," volunteered for the scene, and, after a search, Ausable chasm was settled on as the best available place. Late in the afternoon he with the horse, five photographers and pictures assembled.

The horse balked at the leap, but after several attempts the rider was able to ride over it.

The two turned one whole somersault in the air and went down into the water headfirst; that is, the rider, still in the saddle, headfirst and the horse struck on its back legs in the air.

A few seconds after the splash the horse came up and began to swim towards shore and then the rider, pale and somewhat shaken, was dragged into a waiting boat where his injury was discovered. After treatment at Fort Kent he was placed on

Continued from page one. better defense. He spoke of the navy, which he said is now fifth in strength among nations, when ten years or so ago it was second. "Relatively we have lost rank," he declared and illustrated how serious it was by giving as an example a foot race, stating a man who was fifth couldn't be called much of a runner when there were four ahead of him, even if a few years ago he had run second best.

The recent Democratic move for preparedness Dr. Temple called a "nervous spasm," simply for the reason that it was but recently that the administration had opposed greater national defense. Taking issue with former Secretary of State Bryan who said that if needed United States could raise an army of a million men between sunset and sunrise. Dr. Temple said, "Suppose we could raise a million men between sunset and sunrise we have 250,000 rifles with which to equip them. Could we manufacture enough rifles between sunset and sunrise?"

Dr. Temple told why he believed in greater defense. He said 20,000 soldiers on the Mexican border had prevented the Mexicans from causing war, and enlarged upon this theme.

In concluding Dr. Temple asked for a large Republican vote, not that it would make victory any surer for the county and district ticket, but that it would lend confidence and would strengthen the Republican "defense" for the presidential year to come.

Proposing an amendment to section eight of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Amend section eight, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any debt, the debt of which on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, exceeded seven per centum of such assessed valuation, and has not since been reduced to less than such per centum, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation. The city of Philadelphia, upon the conditions hereinafter set forth, may increase its indebtedness to the extent of three per centum in excess of seven per centum upon such assessed valuation for the specific purpose of providing for all or any of the following purposes, to wit: For the construction and improvement of subways, tunnels, railways, elevated railways, and other transit facilities; for the construction and improvement of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks, owned or to be owned by said city. Such increase, however, shall only be made with the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, to be held in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit in which the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue, the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount so to be excluded or allowed as a credit may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness, for any one, or more of said purposes of construction, improvement, or reclamation, the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligation at maturity, the payments to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graded annual instalments. Such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges, as required by section ten of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of such work.

In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit in which the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue, the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount so to be excluded or allowed as a credit may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any debt, the debt of which on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, exceeded seven per centum of such assessed valuation, and has not since been reduced to less than such per centum, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation. The city of Philadelphia, upon the conditions hereinafter set forth, may increase its indebtedness to the extent of three per centum in excess of seven per centum upon such assessed valuation for the specific purpose of providing for all or any of the following purposes, to wit: For the construction and improvement of subways, tunnels, railways, elevated railways, and other transit facilities; for the construction and improvement of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks, owned or to be owned by said city. Such increase, however, shall only be made with the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, to be held in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit in which the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue, the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount so to be excluded or allowed as a credit may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

Pennsylvania Man Gets Quick Remedy for His Long Suffering Stomach.

Henry F. Curry of the Hotel Bartlett at Cambridge Springs, Pa., suffered most desperately from ailments of the stomach and digestive tract for years. He spent a fortune in the pursuit of health.

At last he happened to discover Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. He found relief quickly. Mr. Curry wrote:

"I have spent thousands of dollars for doctors and medicine and hardly got temporary relief, and before I took your medicine I was about discouraged. But after taking your medicine I got great relief. My mental and physical suffering had been so bad that I had to resort to morphine, and even with that I did not get much relief. Your remedy helped me wonderfully. I have a good appetite, sleep well, and have gained weight."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

- That women need the vote for the same reason that men need it?

- That because laws regulate a woman's life and the lives of her children, and because they tax her property and may even sentence her to death, she should have the right to vote, and thus share in the making of the laws?

Lime Treatment in Tuberculosis

In the May 25, 1912, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association appeared this statement concerning calcium (lime) medication in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption):

"In the systematic and persistent regime of calcium assimilation, Van Giesen has seen a number of his patients improve, undergo an exudation or partial consolidation in the lung, which then remaining would appear to contribute to the walling off and closing of the lesions. Hand in hand with this course of events, the sputum clears up of tubercle bacilli, which finally disappear, and the patients are discharged with healed pulmonary tuberculosis."

Other medical journals seldom speak so positively about a remedial agent, yet this testimony coincides with that from many consumptives who have secured like results through the use of Eckman's Alterative.

Since calcium is a constituent of the human body for pulmonary tuberculosis and allied throat and bronchial affections, its healing power may in some measure be attributed to the manner in which this element is so combined with other ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person, and it does not irritate the stomach.

Eckman's Alterative contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe to try. If your druggist is out of it, ask him to order, or send direct to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia.
